We are currently seeking the following individuals for video interviews that will be used in line with a Canada wide tele-learning program for caregivers of women with a breast and/or ovarian cancer diagnosis.

These informative videos are part of a larger effort to assist caregivers accompanying a loved one or friend with a breast or ovarian cancer diagnosis to help ensure that they feel supported and informed through their care journey.

Caregivers*

We are seeking caregivers caring for an individual with breast or ovarian cancer. We would like to interview the caregiver about their role and experience during this journey. The duration of the interview is approximately 60 minutes.

Professionals

We are seeking health and social service or related fields Professionals within the field of breast and/or ovarian cancer to be interviewed. Professionals will be asked to share their experience and professional opinion on matters related to the illness and caregiving. The duration of the interview is approximately 60 minutes.

Survivors & Patients*

We are seeking survivors of breast and ovarian cancer as well as those currently living with the illness who have been supported by a family member or friend. Interviewees will be asked about their journey and their relationship with their primary caregiver. The duration of the interview is approximately 60 minutes.

Ideally we are looking to interview individuals of all ages from a variety of cultural backgrounds. We ask that interviewees be comfortable speaking about the subject and offering personal perspectives.

*Caregiver and patients dyads who want to participate together are very welcome and encouraged.

All interested participants please contact The Caregiver Network: info@lratcn.ca

The videos will be showcased on the Network's website (www.lratcn.ca) and on social media (www.facebook.com/lratcn) in order to promote the 7 series webinar project that is aimed to help spousal caregivers navigate the diagnosis and care planning process. The objectives of the videos are to serve as promotion for the webinars but to also be stand-alone informative pieces, that will be archived on the Network's website for future viewing.
